

48 Hours In Prague: Exploring the Magic of the City

Prague, the capital of Czech Republic, is a city that effortlessly blends its rich history with a modern and vibrant atmosphere. Its stunning architecture, picturesque old town, and lively culture make it a must-visit destination for travelers worldwide. If you find yourself with just 48 hours to explore this enchancing city, fret not! Raffael Coronelli, a travel enthusiast and expert, shares his personal guide on how to make the most of your limited time in Prague.

Day 1 - Immersing in Historical Prague

Start your day by visiting Prague Castle, the largest ancient castle complex in the world. Marvel at its grandeur and explore its numerous historic buildings, including St. Vitus Cathedral, St. George's Basilica, and Golden Lane, where you can admire the beautifully preserved medieval houses.

Afterwards, stroll through the charming streets of Lesser Town, a picturesque neighborhood filled with quaint cafes, restaurants, and boutique shops. Don't forget to stop by the iconic Charles Bridge, adorned with statues and offering stunning views of Prague's skyline.

For lunch, treat yourself to traditional Czech cuisine at one of Prague's local restaurants. Indulge in goulash, svíčková, or trdelník, accompanied by a glass of world-famous Czech beer. Raffael Coronelli recommends "U Modré Kachničky" for a truly authentic dining experience.

In the afternoon, head to the Old Town Square, where you'll find the famous Astronomical Clock. Be sure to catch the hourly show, where the clock comes to life with moving figures. Explore the stunning Gothic architecture of the nearby Church of Our Lady before Týn and climb the Old Town Hall Tower for panoramic views of the city.

End your day with a magical evening walk along the Vltava River, taking in the sight of Prague's illuminated bridges and buildings. For a unique experience, embark on a boat tour at sunset, allowing you to witness the city's beauty from a different perspective.

Day 2 - Discovering Prague's Modern Charms

Start your second day with a visit to the Lennon Wall, a symbol of peace and freedom covered in colorful graffiti. This ever-changing art piece pays tribute to John Lennon and the values he stood for.

Next, make your way to the Dancing House, a modern architectural gem created by Frank Gehry. Admire its unconventional design, which resembles a couple dancing.

Continue your journey to the vibrant neighborhood of Žižkov, known for its bohemian atmosphere and abundance of local pubs. Take a break at a traditional Czech pub and enjoy a pint of Pilsner beer while immersing yourself in the lively local culture.

For lunch, venture to the trendy district of Vinohrady, where you'll find an array of international cuisine options. Whether you crave Italian, Thai, or vegan delights, you'll find it all in this cosmopolitan neighborhood.

In the afternoon, visit the National Museum and explore its extensive collection, spanning various fields of art, history, and natural sciences. Raffael Coronelli suggests dedicating your time to the museum's Czech history section to gain a deeper understanding of the country's past.

As evening approaches, head to Letná Park, a serene oasis overlooking the city. Take a leisurely stroll through the park, enjoy panoramic views, and perhaps have a picnic while soaking in the atmosphere.

Conclude your Prague adventure by visiting one of the city's rooftop bars or beer gardens, where you can savor local beverages while admiring the cityscape below. Raffael Coronelli recommends the terrace at T-Anker for its stunning views and relaxed ambience.

Prague is a city that captivates visitors with its blend of history, art, and modern charm. With just 48 hours, you can immerse yourself in the magic of this enchanting city, exploring its iconic landmarks and soaking in its unique atmosphere. Raffael Coronelli's guide provides a comprehensive itinerary that ensures you make the most of your limited time in Prague, making unforgettable memories along the way. So go ahead, pack your bags, and embark on an adventure through the heart of Europe!
