The process of paper piecing starts by selecting a pattern or creating your own. The pattern is then printed onto lightweight paper or traced onto a solid foundation paper. Each section of the design is numbered and labeled to guide the fabric placement.

Once the pattern is prepared, fabric pieces are cut larger than the intended sections and pinned onto the backside of the paper. The fabric is then folded over the designated lines and secured with pins or a temporary adhesive. With the fabric in position, stitching is done from the front, allowing for accurate placement and alignment.

After sewing each section, excess fabric is trimmed, and subsequent pieces are added until the entire block is complete. Once the block is finished, the paper is removed, revealing your stunning paper pieced creation.
