There's few counties better in Britain for walking than Yorkshire; whether you are wanting the coast, countryside or towns and cities, Yorkshire has a variety of landscapes perfect for us walkers.

And there's few people who know Yorkshire like Andrew White, so there's no one better to devise and write 15 very different walks across the length and breath of God's Own County.

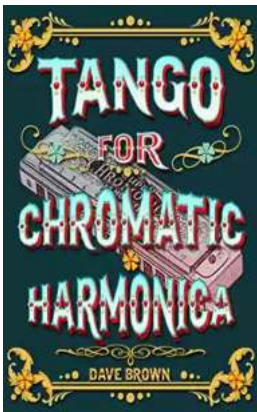

Designed to perfectly accompany the TV series Walks Around Yorkshire with Andrew White, the book contains easy-to-follow numbered directions together with clear, waymarked maps and fascinating background information about places along each walk. Each walk also features in-depth travel information to reach the starting point, including details of public transport and advice for dog walkers - important to Andrew as he has six dogs. And there's information of how to make a great day out, with recommended places to go nearby around each walk.

The book covers the fifteen walks in the first three seasons, all across South, East, West and North Yorkshire:

- Bempton and Flamborough
- Cusworth and Sprotbrough
- Dunford Bridge and Langsett Reservoir
- Sheffield's Five Weirs Walk -
- Goathland to Levisham

- High and Low Bradfield to Dale Dike Reservoir
- Holmfirth
- Hull City Centre
- Ingleborough from Ingleton
- Malham to Malham Cove
- Pen-y-ghent
- Roseberry Topping from Great Ayton
- Wherside from Ribbleshead Station
- Whitby and the Cleveland Way
- York City Centre

Full colour throughout, with superb photography, Walks Around Yorkshire is the perfect guide to 15 wonderful walks, and great to read in conjunction with the television series.
