What happens if you put a probate lawyer, a physicist/cab driver, a Minnesota Rollergirl, and some dead people all together in a slightly irreverent story? Well, you get this book. It's about connections and consciousness; about a woman lawyer who acknowledges that she is looking for "something extra, something more." It's fast-paced, sassy, and laugh-out-loud funny. There are several hilarious vignettes relating to law school experiences and courtroom scenes that are somewhat unusual. It explores physics, the concept of "syzygies," quantum entanglement, interdimensional/ time travel, the Theory of Everything (TOE), "poppin' the quiff," and Penrose tiles. The author has pulled in northern climate experiences and readers may recognize Minneapolis, Saint Paul, Duluth, and other "up-nort" Minnesota venues, both past and present.
