Snook's journey began in his college years, where he pursued a degree in Journalism. While attending university, he discovered his gift for vocal projection, his voice resonating through lecture halls and captivating minds. It was during this time that he realized his calling - to give voice to the stories of his nation and beyond.

After completing his studies, Snook worked as a reporter and news anchor for a local radio station in Tel Aviv. Despite his initial success, he yearned for something more, a platform where his voice could reach a wider audience, crossing borders and touching hearts across the globe.

Opportunity knocked on Snook's door in 1995 when he was offered a position at Israel's national radio station. This was his big break, a moment that would catapult him into the limelight and make him a household name. With immense gratitude and a sense of purpose, he accepted the role, ready to leave an indelible mark on the world.

As the Voice of Israel, Snook's distinctive voice became the fabric of the nation's radio landscape. With his every word, he instilled a sense of trust, credibility, and reliability in listeners. Listeners would tune in, eager to hear the comforting tone, the sincere delivery, and the unbiased analysis that would guide them through the events shaping their lives.

Snook's talent extended beyond the realm of news reporting. He worked on various radio programs, lending his voice to documentaries, audio dramas, and even commercial advertising. Regardless of the genre, his voice breathed life into characters, created vivid imagery, and left an indelible mark on the alchemy of storytelling.

Throughout his illustrious career, Snook's contributions have been recognized and celebrated. He has received numerous accolades, including the prestigious Audio Excellence Award for his outstanding vocal talents. However, for Snook, these laurels were simply byproducts of his unwavering dedication to his craft and his unwavering commitment to his audience.

Behind the soothing voice lies a humble man, grounded and grateful for the impact he has had on the lives of millions. Snook is known for his philanthropic endeavors, using his voice to raise awareness and support for causes close to his heart. From charity events to public service announcements, his voice has become a catalyst for change and hope.

Now, after decades of service, Snook is preparing for retirement. The news of his impending departure has sparked mixed emotions among his fans and colleagues. While there is sadness in bidding farewell to an icon, there is also awe and appreciation for the legacy he leaves behind.

In an industry dominated by fleeting trends and ephemeral voices, Scott Snook's impact has been enduring. His voice has stood the test of time, resonating with clarity and authority, breaking barriers, and bridging cultures.

As we reflect on the journey of Voice of Israel Scott Snook, we are reminded of the power of narrative and the significance of voices in our lives. Through his dedication, talent, and ability to connect, Snook has etched his name in the annals of audio journalism history, leaving an indelible mark on the collective consciousness.

Scott Snook, the man behind the iconic Voice of Israel, will forever be remembered as more than just a voice - he is a symbol of passion, talent, and above all, the power of storytelling.

Voice of Israel is a collection of Abba Eban’s speeches before the United Nations’ Security Council and General Assembly, at universities and other venues between 1948 and 1968. Eban addresses Israel’s position on security in the Middle East, the Arab refugee problem, Jerusalem and the Holy Places, freedom of navigation through the Suez Canal and the Straights of Tiran, border clashes, American-Israel relations and the Six-Day War.

“The Ambassador sounds a note of fierce and joyous pride in the achievements of Israel... The texts show Mr. Eban’s equal facility with the majestic phrase, the mild word and the blunt rejoinder... It need not be insisted that Mr. Eban is the oratorical equal of the incomparable Sir Winston [Churchill].” — Hal Lehrman,

The New York Times

“For almost two generations, Abba Eban was Israel's voice — its messenger to the high and mighty among the nations as well as to the Jewish people all over the world. Since he first appeared at the side of Dr. Chaim Weizmann in the late 1940's during the struggle for Jewish statehood and sovereignty, few people could articulate the Zionist and later the Israeli case with comparable eloquence and conviction.

With his Churchillian prose and almost Shakespearean cadences, his mellifluous phrases and sonorous voice carried for decades a message of hope from a people that could have lost all hope and trust in humanity after the horrors of World War II. As Ambassador to the United States and the UN, and later as Foreign Minister, he represented an Israel with which the world's liberal imagination could identify.

Larger and more powerful nations were envious of so powerful a spokesman, and his speeches became textbook models for statesmen and diplomats in distant lands. His books — which he found time to write despite the hectic demands of diplomacy — were a unique combination of enormous erudition and crystalline clarity. His scholarly training and rhetorical gifts supplemented each other in a rare fashion. Rarely has a small country been represented by a statesman of such world stature: only Thomas Masaryk and Jan Smuts come to mind to compare with him.

He was a true patriot, in the old-fashioned sense of the word: proud of his people, but never ethno-centric; a man of the world, but deeply embedded in Jewish cultural heritage; focused on the plights and tribulations of the Jewish people, but never losing the universal horizon of mankind. In short, he was a modern Jew in the best sense of the word.” — Shlomo Avineri
