Exploring Nature's Wonders

Max and his dad share a love for nature. They believe that immersing themselves in the natural world is not just captivating, but also vital for our overall well-being. Every weekend, they set out to explore different landscapes, from breathtaking mountains to serene beaches and everything in between.

Together, they marvel at the beauty of wildlife, sharing stories about the animals they encounter. It's an educational journey that extends beyond the classroom, igniting Max's curiosity and love for the environment.

Creating Lasting Memories

These memories serve as a reminder of their bond, strengthening their connection even when real-life obligations come knocking. Max keeps a scrapbook where he collects mementos from each weekend adventure, allowing him to relive those magical moments whenever he flips through its pages. The scent of a campfire, the sound of birds chirping, or the feeling of the wind against their skin - these memories create a tapestry of love and happiness that will forever be woven into their lives.

Growing Together

The weekends spent with his dad have a profound impact on Max's personal growth. Through shared experiences, Max learns valuable life lessons, gaining resilience, determination, and problem-solving skills.

He discovers the sheer joy of achieving goals and overcoming obstacles, instilling in him a sense of confidence that extends beyond the boundaries of their weekend adventures. Max's dad becomes his role model, teaching him the Max and his dad love their weekends together. Weekends mean pancakes, pizza, spy games, dog-walking, school projects, and surprising neighbors! Every weekend presents a small adventure as Max gets to know his dad's new neighborhood—and learns some new ways of thinking about home. Acclaimed author Linda Urban deftly portrays a third-grader's inner world during a time of transition in this sweet and funny illustrated story that bridges the early reader and middle-grade novel.

“Urban’s subtle and perceptive take on divorce will resonate with children facing similar predicaments as she blends Max’s worries and ‘someone-sitting-on-his-chest’ feelings with a vivid imagination and good intentions that take father and son on some very entertaining adventures—with future ones planned.” — Publishers Weekly (starred review)

“Urban excels at credibly presenting this situation from Max’s third-grade point of view . . . Urban’s writing is both crisply specific (a basset hound ‘sniffed as she walked through puddles, dragging her ears like flat-bottomed boats’) and simple enough to be accessible.” —The Bulletin (starred review)

“A sweet, empathetic look at a common situation.” —Kirkus Reviews

“Urban’s touch is light throughout . . . a story just right for budding chapter-book readers.” —The Horn Book

“The cast of characters grows throughout, but at the heart of the story is Max’s warm, easygoing relationship with his father.” —Booklist
